

I am concerned the Broad Band over Power Lines issue is not in the best interest of the general public. There are technically better ways of accomplishing broad band access without the possible interference issues involved with this method.